

The events of 2008 have provided the Chippewa River District Library Board with the incentive to embark on a strategic plan for 2009 and beyond in order to help determine more clearly our future role in the community. Continuing our past activities without thought and planning is not moving us forward. Standing still is not an option in our 21st century world.

Therefore the strategic planning process we are undertaking provides for a significant amount of community involvement and input. All of these contributions by you, the community being served by the CRDL, will help us to focus the library on those services that are most highly regarded by our constituents.

In addition to the formal process we welcome individual comments on how we can serve the community best.
